Hickman Woman Seeks Circuit Clerk's Office

To The Voters of Fulton County: After giving due consideration to the many appeals of my friends urging me to make the race for Circuit Court Clerk, I am making this announcement as one of the means of soliciting your vote and influence in the coming primary election, Aug. 4, 1945.

Upon making this announcement, I am not unmindful of the responsibility and trust that is invested in the duties of this office by the Court, and if elected I assure you that I will faithfully fulfill that trust to the very best of my knowledge and ability.

At the time my son entered the service, I accepted a position with the Budget and Fiscal Office, Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, which position I held until the War Department notified me last September that my son was missing in action over Germany. Since then I have returned home to be with my family and friends.

I have been a resident of this county my entire life, with the exception of the employment as described above.

It is my earnest desire to meet all the voters personally, but time, tires and gasoline makes this an impossibility so I am hoping that if you are one of those that I do not get to see, that you will give my candidacy your consideration.

Again I solicit your help and assure you of my deepest appreciation for anything you might do for me.

Mrs. Mary Shaw Cowgill

LEST WE FORGET

Every year Fulton has its periodic floods, which inundate the business and some of the residential district of this city.

For a while we all fret and stew about it; then as time goes on, and as we are prone to forget—until another flood come along and hits us again.

A survey is being made now of the watershed in and around Fulton, of the bridges, culverts, etc., over the creek, to determine just what is to be done to provide ample clearance and creek bed so that the flood waters may be carried off without harm.

A local committee has endeavored to obtain aid from the states of Kentucky and Tennessee. Such help is slow in maturing, and it is doubtful whether it will be enough to do the job when it come through.

It seems to us that the most logical thing to do would be to raise money right here in Fulton. Property owners and operators of business places should all help in and get the job done.

We are informed that it will be necessary to make changes in bridges and culverts on the creek, and dig the bed of the stream deeper and wider. That probably will mean a drag line will have to be brought in to do the work.

And don't forget that it is no small job. A few thousand will not do the work. It will cost in the neighborhood of $50,000 anyway. Now is the time to start raising the money, not later, when another flood, and perhaps a more serious one, comes along to do further damage to our city.

Another thing. We have heard of no action on the part of the City Dads of Fulton and South Fulton in the matter of passing ordinances against throwing anything in the creek bed. This step should be taken without further delay. For there is no need to spend money to clean the creek out, if we are going to permit everyone throw anything they like in the creek, fill it up in order to gain a foot or two for their own private benefit.

Let's look at this creek program realistic right now. It is not going to get any better unless the community as a whole pitches in and does something about it. First it is up to the City Dads, and local civic leaders, to get on the ball and act. But somebody has got to take the lead if the project is ever pushed through.

We already have a good committee on the job, but everybody has got to get solid behind these men.

Kentucky Veterans Are Returning

Miami, Fla.—Kentucky overseas veterans from widely scattered battle fronts continue to pour into Air Transport Command's Miami Army Air Field as part of 50,000 returnees ATC is flying back to the states each month.

The majority of the air evacuees under the Army's "Green Project" land at this busy ATC Caribbean hub and then are sent to Camp Blanding, Fla. From there they go to a reception center nearer their homes for furlough or separation under the Army's redeployment plan.

Among those released were: T-Sgt. Charles E. Reams, 25, Fulton, R. 3, Air Corps, 33 months in China-Burma-India, four battle stars, Bronze Star.

Pvt. Edward S. Lyons, 27, 408 Eddings-st, Fulton, Ky., Engineers, 34 months in Mediterranean theater, shared Distinguished Unit citation.

TWO FULTON SOLDIERS RELEASED FROM ARMY

JULY 22-25 WILL BE FARM SAFETY WEEK

Farm Safety Week will be observed throughout the Nation the week of July 22 to 28 by proclamation of President Truman.

With farmers called upon to meet the highest crop production goals of the War with fewer workers, it is imperative that both manpower and property losses due to farm accidents and fires be reduced to a minimum, says W. J. Browder, U-T assistant Extension engineer and State Safety Chairman.

Deaths from farm work accidents last year totaled more than in any of the other five major industries, amounting to 25 percent of all occupational deaths. More farm people were killed by accidents in America's first two years participation in the War than the number of fighting men killed in the war itself, Browder points out.

Careless use of farm machinery is the chief cause of farm work accidents with livestock close behind. For each $10.00 of gross income the farmer as a class pays out about $1.00 as the result of accidents and fires.

A farm home or farm building catches fire every fifteen minutes during the day in the U. S. The cost of farm fires totals $273,972 each day.

Latest reports indicate that fire losses in the United States last year were the highest in this country since 1932.

The majority of farm accidents and fires can be prevented if every farm family will put into effect this simple three point program.

I. Learn to recognize and hunt out the accident and fire hazards on the farm and in the farm house.

II. Correct or remove those hazards that you can.

III. Learn to live and work safely with those hazards that cannot be immediately corrected or removed.

Irby W. Hammond Asks Election As Sheriff

In this issue of The Fulton County News, we are authorized to announce the candidacy of Irby W. Hammond for sheriff of Fulton County, subject to the action of the Democratic primary election to be held Saturday, August 4, 1945.

Mr. Hammond, well known farmer of the Cayce community, is widely known throughout the county. He is a veteran of World War I, and vice-commander of the American Legion Post at Hickman. He is also well acquainted in Fulton, and is a member of the B. P. O. E. Lodge at Fulton.

He has been active in farm and civic work for many years. He belongs to the Fulton County Farm Bureau, and served as committee man from his district. He has resided in this county since boyhood, and has many friends who will be glad to learn that he is seeking the sheriff's office.

Mr. Hammond has never sought public office before, and was persuaded to make the race for sheriff by friends throughout the county. He is a man of stalwart stature, and has the sterling qualities that qualify him for the office he seeks. As a veteran of World War I, he should have a deeper understanding of the fellows who return from war to take up civilian life again. It is a recognized fact that the man who fills the sheriff's office at this time, and after the present war with Japan, must be qualified to deal with problems that will tax his ability, integrity and understanding.

Mr. Hammond takes this method of asking your consideration of his qualifications for the office, and he will appreciate your vote and support in the coming election. If nominated and elected, he promises to uphold and execute the duties of the office with devotion and fairness to all, recognizing the sacred trust and faith placed in him by the people who have chosen him as their public servant.

Lt. Earl E. Cashion, 379th Bombardment Squadron, received the Distinguished Flying Cross for participating in aerial flight as pilot of a B-25 on March 16, 1945, in an attack on a railroad bridge in Brenner Pass in Campo, Italy. In the face of strong resistance, his plane was crippled, but he made it back to base. Lt. Cashion holds the Air Medal with Six Oak Leaf Clusters, and the Mediterranean Ribbon with two battle stars.

Harold Mullins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mullins of this city, is with a Motor Torpedo Boat Squadron of the U. S. Navy. He is somewhere in the Philippine Islands.

William W. Merryman, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Merryman of this city, has been awarded a commendation ribbon for distinguished service. He is Chief Motor Machinist on a U. S. Submarine.

Harold B. Chapman, 18, seaman, second class, USNR, of Fulton, Ky., is now training at the Atlantic Fleet's Naval Training Station, Newport, R. I., for duty with the gunnery division aboard a new heavy cruiser.

He entered the Navy last January.

MIND READERS DISAGREE

The latest court decision in the Montgomery Ward case decides nothing on the merits of the labor issue out of which the controversy grew. All the decision amounts to is that the words used in an act of Congress to promote the prosecution of a war must be given a broader meaning than might otherwise be warranted. Even as to the broader meaning, the judge in the lower court and the judges in a higher court disagreed.

The point of interest to business is that the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, by a two to one decision reversing the lower court, held that the act giving the president the right to seize "any plant, mine or facility equipped for the manufacture, production or mining of any articles or materials which may be required by the war effort" is elastic enough to include a mail order house or other establishment engaged exclusively in the distribution of consumer goods.

With such confusion in court decisions on congressional acts, it is obvious that Congress will have to be more specific in making its meaning clear in legislation it passes, rather than leaving to judges the interpretation of its thoughts.

WHY NOT BE FAIR?

A soldier who has been overseas for nearly three years, the last year and one-half in the South Pacific, writes a good suggestion to his home folks.

He has been fighting to maintain American ideals of justice, equality and individual independence, as contrasted with government domination of private citizens. While he has been away, his home community has been subjected to a form of political aggression. A great tax-exempt Federal power system liquidated the highly-taxed home power company. He knows that when he gets home he will pay additional taxes to make up this loss unless government business projects which compete with private citizens can be taxed.

To meet this situation, he offers a plan that seems to be practical as it is in line with the government's own policy of levying special taxes against certain industries. He says: "As long as public power plants oppose being taxed on the same basis as private plants, why not levy a customer power consumption tax against them? The Federal government already collects a power consumption tax from private power companies. In this manner, the percentage of taxes paid by private electric companies, which averages around 25 per cent of their gross income, could be collected from public power companies. In this manner, bring about equality in taxation and it would prevent the privileged tax-exempt plants from shifting their tax bill to other taxpayers, including the service men, who, when they return, must bear their full share of the tax burden."

That would be a fair method of taxing government business pro-share of the cost of government. This soldier in the South Seas is jealous which now dodge their just apparently thinking more about the principles of government that must be maintained to perpetuate freedom and equality in the United States, than are most of our people at home.

CRITICISM ESSENTIAL

Retail business men of the nation have been leaders in insisting that practical controls be enforced to prevent the dizzy spiraling of prices. Some of the difficulties we are now experiencing result from the refusal of those charged with rationing and price control to give heed to practical suggestions that have been offered. This is excusable in a large degree because it is impossible to please everybody, and, furthermore, because when a country changes from a free economy to a controlled economy, whether it be for a war emergency or other reason harsh conditions will result.

When people seek legislated security from some real or imagined danger, such as inflation for example, they give up much freedom of action in return. Therefore, it is unfair to complain of the "control" system under which we now live until we are ready to take our chances under a free economy. However, this does not mean that there should be no criticism or effort to improve operating methods of our control system. If rules and regulations governing prices and production are definitely destructive of increased output, correction should be made. Unless this is done, the purpose of rationing and price control will be defeated. The duty of OPA is to cooperate with producers and retailers because it is on them that the people depend for all the necessities of life and not on the regulators who, in themselves, are powerless to clothe or feed a single soul.

As controls are relaxed, both producers and retailers will face a tremendous obligation of voluntarily basing prices on reasonable profits. From this angle, organized retailers and mass producers of merchandise will be the nation's greatest price control assets, for the simple reason that their business lives depend on volume turnover, and that cannot be secured except on a minimum profit per unit sale. Therefore, business must accept the responsibility of policing its own price policy.

"CONTROL FOR CONTROL'S SAKE"

In the face of the flight that is now underway to socialize the industrial economy of Great Britain, Prime Minister Churchill has courageously said: "At the head of free enterprise, we fly the flag of free enterprise. Control for control's sake is senseless. Controls which are in fact designed to favor the accomplishment of totalitarian systems—however innocently designed, whatever guise they take, whatever liveries they wear, whatever slogans they mouth—are a fraud which should be mercilessly exposed."

Thoughtful persons oppose government in business, because government in business is nothing but the beginning of "control for control's sake." And yet there are powerful political leaders in all nations who still promote the totalitarian philosophy of Hitler which made government supreme and the people slaves.

INDUSTRY HELPS VETERANS

What industry is doing to meet problems of the returning soldiers, is illustrated by the announcement of the Texas Company that a special leave of absence will be granted employees of that company who return from military service and desire to take advantage of the Servicemen's Readjustment Act to pursue studies that will benefit them in their future association with the company. Also it will give financial assistance in the form of loans without interest in cases where the amount available under the law may be inadequate.

In addition to providing jobs, this is a type of cooperation that helps the boys as they switch from bullets to breadwinning.

LET'S HAVE BOTH SIDES

"There is entirely too much hypocrisy," says Ted Crosby, "in the hackneyed complaint that business-managed utility companies engage in 'propaganda,' while their political critics engage in the same activity even more intensively and continuously. Why not admit that both sides are out to advance a given viewpoint and let the public judge its merits?"

"Dissolve the fiction of hypocrisy which proponents of socialized management have assiduously built up around their use of the word 'propaganda' and applied to the purely defensive, and often pitifully inadequate, efforts of business-managed companies to stay alive and continue to do business—the business of public service."

TAKE IT OUT OF THE MUSEUM

The past June was made the occasion for a united effort to impress upon everyone the importance of the dairy industry and dairy products in completing the war against Japan. The effort in behalf of the dairy industry should not end with June.

Maintaining production under present handicaps is difficult for producers, but throughout the nation they are extending their wholehearted support. Dairy farmers are hoping for a change in rationing and price policies which will encourage the production of dairy products and bring butter back from the museum to the family table.

JOB WELL DONE

The railroads are as much a part of the war effort as the Army and the Navy themselves; they are performing a war duty unequalled in magnitude, with insufficient equipment and personnel; and they have, by the sheer brilliance of their performance, prevented an acute transportation crisis from becoming a national disaster.—Chicago Herald American.

Truth may be stranger than fiction, but it should be no stranger to us.

You can't eat your cake and have it too. But you can give your word and keep it.

A good girl always sticks to "no"; A bad girl always yesses.

THE AMERICAN WAY

I'M ACHIN' FOR BACON

For the past several months I have haunted the butcher shops of my neighborhood, with red points in hand, in a vain search for bacon. Nary a rasher have I been able to purchase, and I'm achin' for bacon.

Now, along with millions of other Americans who share my craving for that smoked, delectable portion of the hog, I am perfectly willing to forego the gastronomic delight of a slice of bacon or two with my eggs (when I can get them) if the sacrifice is necessary to assure that our boys in the Armed Services get their fill of bacon.

However, there are a few things I would like to know, not only about all of the feed shortage (?) which this nation is experiencing. Are they real, and if so are they just another example of the futility of government planning. If they are bureaucratic created shortages why do we tolerate such autocracy?

Repeatedly I have read in the public prints that we now have more cattle on the hoof than ever before in our history; that Canadian butcher shops are selling American meat (some of it sent on Lend-Lease) to Americans; that farmers no longer may slaughter their own live-stock, but are forced in many cases to ship it hundreds of miles for slaughtering and dressing, to be shipped back, thus adding to the load of the already overburdened railroads; that there is enough sugar in Cuba to satisfy every sweet tooth in the United States and to spare; that the government is dumping thousands of cases of canned milk and thousands of tons of vegetables and fruits, because it has held them to the spoiling point, etc.

If these things are true, then it is the duty of government to deny them and punish those who deliberately or otherwise are publishing such damaging statements. If they are true, it is about time that the Congress do something about it. So far none of us has really suffered—but if the food situation, admittedly now out of hand, continues to get progressively worse, the time is not far distant when this nation definitely will suffer from malnutrition.

The average American has played the game fairly and squarely—he has refused knowingly to patronize the black market, and just as he feels that the food shortage is real, he will continue to do so. But once let him get the idea into his caranium that the food shortage is either falsely created or due to bureaucratic stupidity, he will throw his patriotism, as far as food is concerned, overboard. Some one has truthfully said that the stomach is the least patriotic of the organs of the human body.

If the food shortage is genuine, he must not be allowed to get into this frame of mind, but he is rapidly reaching that point. The government must bestir itself at once. It must investigate, then deny or take steps to remedy a deplorable condition.

You can help clear the atmosphere by writing your Congressman and senators. Tell them that you want to know if this is a case of "water, water everywhere and not a drop to drink," or if the well is really running dry. Demand that in either case they do something about it. Tell'em you're achin' for bacon—that you'll cheerfully endure the ache as long as you believe it is essential to the winning of the war, but you're getting a bit skeptical.

If enough of us make these demands upon our Washington legislators, these food shortages (?) will be alleviated, because the farmers of this nation (God bless them) can raise all the food-stuffs necessary to feed, first, our soldier boys and, second, our civilian population, with a huge surplus left over to be sent to the starving nations of the world.

Bureaucratic blundering is responsible for the "food fizzle." It's high time that Congress use the power that it possesses to divest these bureaucrats of the power which it relinquished to them—and you, the readers see and do its duty.

That's how you can help to "cure" that achin' for bacon.

Mrs. Mary Lola Lawrence, well known practical nurse of 4500-11th Ave.

North, Birmingham, Ala. Discussing her case she happily stated:

"It seemed to me that every bite I ate disagreed with me and caused gas in my stomach until I could hardly breathe. I tossed and tumbled all night and felt as worn out mornings as if I had done a hard day's work. My appetite dwindled away, my weight went down to only a hundred and twelve pounds, and I felt terribly nervous and weak. I was forced to depend on laxatives for elimination, and I had about lost faith in all medicines. "The relief Retonga gave me seems astonishing. All that terrible distress from gas and indigestion is relieved and I eat, sleep and feel like a different person. I have regained several pounds, my nerves seem strong, and I no longer have to take harsh laxatives. I feel better than in years. Retonga is the best investment I ever made."

Retonga is intended to relieve distress due to Vitamin B-1 deficiency, constipation, insufficient flow of digestive juices in the stomach, and loss of appetite. Thousands praise it. Retonga may be obtained at DeMyer's Drug Store.

A New "House of Magic" for Postwar America

"...one of the strongest guarantees of progress and world peace is continuous scientific preparedness through industrial research."

General Electric has approved plans for a new $8,000,000 Research Laboratory. This expenditure has tremendous significance. Scientific research has contributed much to our progress as a nation.

"Many things have been discovered during this war, and we can and must develop them into better things for peacetime."

"Today we have 550 research people on our staff. These new facilities will not only give increased outlet for their abilities, but will provide opportunities for new research minds with new talents."

"From this new laboratory we think new achievements will come. In the past, G-E research has contributed much to better living in America—not only through new developments in x-ray, electricity, metallurgy, electronics and chemistry, but also through reduced cost and increased efficiency, as in the modern incandescent lamp.

"Even more than in the past the laboratory will emphasize research in pure science—continuing and expanding the work begun by Dr. Whitney and the late Dr. Steinmetz forty-five years ago."

"To find new facts of the physical world, to extend the limits of knowledge, is a forward step in creating More Goods for More People at Less Cost."

feet of floor space will accommodate an expanded post-war research staff of about 800. Research rooms will be a scientist's paradise of equipment for experiments in chemistry, physics, mechanics, electronics. It is hoped that construction can start in six months.

A DECLARATION OF INTERDEPENDENCE

By Ruth Taylor
Only the savage lives by himself and for himself. Civilization demands cooperative living. Each gain made, each step forward that makes life easier or more secure implies the working together of the many for the benefit of all.
This is not an altruistic attitude. It is plain horse sense. It is intelligence.

gent self interest to recognize our interdependence one upon the other. We became a nation when Thirteen Sovereign States accepted their interdependence and gave up some of their cherished privileges to establish a Bill of Rights for all.

We have fought a long war at a high cost in young lives because after the last war we did not recognize our responsibility—our dependence upon others; because we did not see that domestic prosperity to a very great degree was dependent upon world prosperity; because at home we did not realize that all groups must be prosperous if our economy was to be healthy.

We have learned an expensive lesson—but, God be thanked, we have learned it, and even in the midst of turmoil there are those who have been looking ahead and planning for the peace to come.

To be sure, there are those self blinded critics who say that "planning" is a Fascist or Communist ideology, destructive of rugged individualism. Yet how far would that most rugged individualist, the frontiersman, have gone in the wilderness without the careful planning, without cautious preparation? He would have been scalped long before he reached the nearest settlement.

"Planning" is no foreign ideology. The Declaration of Interdependence is as American as the Declaration of Independence.

What is the Declaration of Interdependence? It is a joint statement by the Agriculture, Business and Labor Committees on National Policy of the National Planning Association. In the words of Hans Christian Sonne, Chairman of the Executive Committee: "This declaration is a credo of faith in democracy. It is the conscious attempt of groups to analyze their common needs and to seek mutual agreement on their common problems; to, in self interest, put aside selfishness for the good of the nation as a whole. National planning is democracy planning. This is why we believe it will show us the way to a peaceful and prosperous world."

VICTORY RECIPE

Take one draftee, slightly green. Stir from bed at early hour. Soak in shower or tub daily. Dresses in olive drab. Mix with others of his kind. Then toughen with maneuvers and grate on sergeant's nerves. Add liberal portion of baked beans and corned beef. Season with wind, rain, sun and snow. Sweeten from time to time with chocolate bars. Let smoke occasionally. Bake in 110-degree summer and let cool in below-zero winter. Serves 130 million people.

SAFETYGRAMS

One of the most serious problems in traffic accident prevention in any community centers around the pedestrian. The rush and worry of these war times have tended to make us become lax and careless in our walking habits. This carelessness, however, is not confined exclusively to war workers and civilians. It is particularly ironical to read or hear of the death in traffic of a Service man who has served a year or more on the battle fronts and who is home on furlough.

The postwar period is going to be a busy one for all communities. Special studies should be made by cities, towns and villages to improve their pedestrian traffic problems.

Many a soldier devotes his furlough to day-and-night mechanized operation on the home farm. This is Cpl. Delmar Van Horn, Jr. with his dad at Jefferson, Iowa.

THEY DID IT BEFORE— THEY CAN DO IT AGAIN With Farmall Tractor Power

Throughout the Spring, from the Rockies to the Atlantic seaboard, worried farmers searched the skies for signs of clear weather, but the cold rains fell relentlessly.

For more than a month the seed should have been germinating in the warm soil. Millions of acres lay unplanted because the ground was too wet for preparation of the seed bed and too cold for germination of the seed.

Only a generation ago there could have been but one outcome—crop shortage and food scarcity. Nature allows scant time for planting when the warm sun waits till late May or June before drying the soggy soil. Horses are too slow and tire too quickly to get the job done then.

But the farmers remember May of 1943—only two years ago—when their fast, untiring tractor averted crop failure. Then, too, rains flooded the fields and the month was all but spent before they would go in on the land and plant.

In 1943, most farmers drove their tractors from dark to dark, and longer. Many planted around the clock, working in two or three shifts. They made one of the greatest crops in history.

In today's war-torn world—with hunger and disease already stalking many peoples—even one major crop failure could bring famine. This is why the sound of tractors and planting machinery was heard, day and night, from the Plains states to the Eastern seaboard—why headlights stabbed the darkness over the fields.

America's farmers are doing it again, in spite of an unprecedented combination of adverse circumstances—bad weather, shortages of machines and shortages of manpower. For the second time in three years, they are relying upon their tractor-powered machines to help rescue large areas of the world from catastrophe. More of these tractors are products of International Harvester than of any other company.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"God" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, July 15, 1945.

The Golden Text is: "The Lord hath prepared his throne in the heavens; and his kingdom ruleth over all." (Ps. 103)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "I will mention the loving-kindness of the Lord, and the praises of the Lord, according to all that the Lord hath bestowed on us, and the great goodness toward the house of Israel, which he hath bestowed on them according to his mercies, and according to the multitude of his loving-kindness. For he said, Surely they are my people, children that will not lie; so he was their savior." (Isa. 63)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "God. The great I am; the all-knowing, all-seeing, all acting, all-wise, all-loving, and eternal; Principle; Mind; Soul; Spirit; Life; Truth; Love; all Substance; intelligence." (P. 587)

PFC. WILSON CANNON IN THE PHILIPPINES

With the 24th Infantry (Victory) Division on Mindanao—With food and water supplies depleted and ammunition about gone, the rifle company of Pfc. Wilson E. Cannon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Cannon of Fulton, Route 3, fought off one vicious assault after the other by superior Japanese forces which surrounded the company for three days in the Davao area.

The embattled unit, Company C of this Victory Division's veteran 21st Infantry Regiment, finally fought its way to the main body of troops with the aid of another company sent out to break the Japanese encirclement.

"When the Japs were not raking out area with mortar and machine-gun fire, they were attacking with bayonets, grenades and rifle fire," said Cannon. "Our artillery saved us, even though the bursts were too close for comfort."

As wounded men were withdrawn to the center of the perimeter, our defense circle became smaller and smaller.

When aid came, we were reduced to eight rounds of ammunition per man, not enough to start fighting off another attack.

BOY IN SERVICE WRITES LETTER BACK HOME

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Shanklin: I Guess you all thought I had forgotten you, but I haven't. Just don't have much time to write. They keep us rather busy in this man's Navy. They give us plenty of cigarettes to smoke, but they don't give us time to smoke them, so that's why there are plenty of cigs here. Ha.

I sure wish you all could see this place. It is sure pretty and big as anything I have ever seen. We have sailors everywhere you look, and they won't let us out of here for ten weeks. I haven't been out in six weeks now and I have two more weeks to go as they are shipping me out to another camp in Rhode Island to take special training for the See Bees, and it looks like I'm going to see some of those Japs right in the face before long, and I believe I can take it, but it's hard trying to keep up with the 17 and 18 year old boys. Led my company in shooting the rifle, and I get to go in the morning to try for Expert. So hear's hoping I can make the grade. All the boys call me "Pop" but I don't mind and just take it and laugh, but I am old enough to be lots of their fathers.

If I get to come home before I have to leave, I'll be by to see you all, and see how the jailer's race is coming along. But I'm not worried because I know you will win. And if there is anything I can do or anything I can write, or say, that will help you, I sure want you to call on me, for I'm proud of the days I spent with you all.

I was really treated like a gentleman, and there was not a fault that I could ever see in anything, and if anyone ever says that there is, tell them to write me and I'll sure stand up for you. I have never known anyone I love more than you dear people. I got a different view of life by your training and teaching me right from wrong, and I have benefited by it more than anything I have ever had taught me. And that's not just talk either. I still read my Bible every day just as I did there, and have been a good boy as far as anything else is concerned. My family and children have changed toward me and seem to know that I'm a different person and I can give all the credit to you all. So God bless you both, and may the other boys who come their get on the right road by your kind treatment. I just hope I can show the people that I have at last made good my wrongs in life. Tell Billy hello, and just know I'm thinking of you all lots. Will write again when I get another camp.

All my love,
Buster.

PROF. B. M. THOMPSON SUCCEEDS WHEATLEY AT LAMBUTH COLLEGE

Jackson, Tennessee—At the recent Lambuth College commencement, President R. E. Womack announced that Professor Barney M. Thompson, of Bloomington, Illinois has been employed as head of the department of music and teacher of voice, succeeding Professor W. D. Wheatley, who is leaving this position for employment elsewhere.

A native of Missouri, Professor Thompson is the son of a former minister of the Methodist Episcopal church, South. For a time he attended Central College, a Methodist institution in Fayette, Missouri, from which he received a diploma in piano. Later he received the degree of Bachelor of Science in Education from the Northwest Missouri State Teacher's College at Maryville and the M. A. Degree from the University of Missouri.

Among his private teachers are the late Sander Radonovits and Theodore Harrison, both of Chicago. He also studied cello under Franz Wagner, formerly with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra. He is a graduate in dramatic art under the late Elias Day.

Professor Thompson has had eleven years of professional experience as soloist, baritone in quartette, cellist and actor in Lyceum and Chautauqua companies, and for the past three years had his own company. For eight years he was director of vocal music in a large senior high school at Quincy, Illinois and for the past three years he has served as critic teacher of vocal music in the Illinois State Normal University. Wherever he has taught he has directed church choirs and taught voice privately. At Quincy he organized and directed the Stephen Foster Singers. His voice is a high baritone.

No sugar has been allocated for the manufacture of beverage alcohol in connection with the July liquor holiday.

our ability to increase production is more powerful than our ability to increase consumption. Therefore, some people can argue that in the future we may be suffering from overproduction more than underconsumption. But we must remember this tremendous fact; Never in history have the world's farmers produced enough food to give all the people of the world a full nutritious diet.—Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard.

A MOTHER'S PRAYER FOR HER SOLDIER SON

Then I Could Help Him

As Thou didst walk the land of Galilee,
So, loving Saviour, walk with him for me,
For, since the years have passed and he is grown,
I cannot follow—he must walk alone.
Be Thou my feet, that I have had to stay,
For Thou canst comrade him on every way.
Be Thou my voice when sinful things allure,
Pleading with him to choose those that endure.
Be Thou my hand that would keep his in mine,
All, all things that mother must resign.
When he was little I could walk and guide,
But now, I pray, that Thou be at his side,
And as Thy blessed mother folded Thee,
So, kind and loving Saviour, guard my son for me.

Grover Page
DRAWS ON THE NEWS

GROVER PAGE, a COURIER-JOURNAL cartoonist for almost thirty years, is a visual editorialist who interprets the news with his brush and pen. The war, international politics with their vast implications, national, regional and local affairs . . . all are reflected in his work.

He calls himself a "short order" artist because he executes most of his sketches in about half an hour. However, they are preceded by endless thought, and quite often, conferences with Courier-Journal editors. His cartoons, built upon a solid foundation of accumulated fact, are usually taken directly from stories in the morning paper . . . which he digests with his breakfast. Besides his daily cartoon, he produces an astringent Sunday strip of the week's outstanding events.

Grover insists that a cartoonist never stops working except when he sleeps, as even his small, every-day experiences give him material to translate the world's most complicated situations. His own interests are varied . . . they have to be in his job! You can tell, for example, that he is an ardent fisherman from the angler influence in many of his drawings.

Grover came to The Courier-Journal from The Nashville Tennessean. Previously he studied art in Chicago, for since he was ten, he determined to cartoon. Even so, he started out as a mechanical engineer and his first cartoon was published at sixteen, when he was working on a water supply project in his home town of Gastonia, North Carolina.

Famous for his prize winning wood-cuts as well as cartoons, Grover has taken many of them from drawings he's made in rural Kentucky and Southern Indiana. His son, Staff Sgt. Grover Page, Jr., inherits his father's talent and is now a front-line sketcher with the 38th Division in the South Pacific.

The Pages live in Louisville, though their first seventeen years in this part of the country were spent in New Albany, Indiana. Grover plans to stay here the rest of his life, working at the same drawing board he has used for almost thirty years.
